Solid Tired Busses Ruin Streets

There can be no doubt that the motor busses are a great convenience, and appreciated by the riding public, enabling people who would never see the boulevards to enjoy drives on them and in the parks that they could not see otherwise, but the expense they are to the boulevard system, and the parks, should also be considered, and the present methods must be changed. The heavily loaded busses on solid tires are much harder on the light paved boluevards, intended only for light pleasure traffic, than loaded trucks would be, and if they are allowed their will, the paved streets will soon all be ruined and the city or park boards, in any event the people, will be compelled to repave them at great expense. The busses are not being run for the pleasure of the people, but for the money there is in their fares, and they should be made to pay a license or in some way made to compensate the city for the wear and tear of the drives. While on this subject it might as well be made known that some of the bus drivers are unreasonable in crowding lighter cars off the street, and turning off of rough places regardless of the rights of others coming from an opposite direction. In other words, these drivers first ruin the drives, and then crowd others into the rough spots that they purposely avoid. It is up to the authorities to consider this matter now, and not wait until all of the drives are ruined.

Fear Duplication of Street Names

Our Southtown contemporary opposes the changing of the name of "Western ave." to "Woodrow Wilson rd.," not because the war president is not worthy of the honor, but that it would lead to confusion of names with Wilson ave. on the north side (excuse us, Northtown). In the forty some years the writer has lived and been more or less interested in public life, we have seen hundreds of changes of names of streets, some for the better, some not, but there has been no confusion. There is now a Garfield street as well as boulevard. A Marquette avenue as well as Marquette road, and we might continue indefinitely. When we first located in Englewood it was on Wright st., just changed from Bissell st., the next change was to Butler st., and in a short time became Normal ave., and is now the thriving popular boulevard of that name. The street we front on the east was Winter st., not Emerald. Parnell ave. was Honore st., and Eggleston ave. was Dickey st., while for many years after annexation, the city maps insisted upon calling Harvard ave. Canal st., just because there was a Harvard st. on the west side. Western ave., when named, was the westermost street in the city, and now it is almost central, and loses its significance, and surely it is most fitting and appropriate that in honoring the name of our great war president we should select one that is distinguished as the longest in the city, and with its continuances, the longest in the world.

Memorial or Decoration day occurs one week from today.

Mr. Rively of 234 61st pl. has been quite sick this week.

Mrs. M. Wait, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. G. Reynolds, 68th st. and Lafayette ave.

Any electrical parts for your auto sold and serviced by Ballantine Electric Co., 723 W. 66th st. Went. 7642 —adv.

Mrs. Emma Engle, who has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Ida Bennes and Miss Della Webber, 261 65th st., returned to her home Saturday in Cleveland, Ohio.

Requires a Prison Sentence to Reform Reckless Drivers

Volumes are printed in almost every publication against the crime of reckless driving of automobiles, pulpit and lecture halls have resounded with eloquent pleas to this class of law breakers, and the authorities from national to hamlet organizations have legislated regulations, but still the daily and unnecessary slaughter of innocents goes on, hence it is plain that the right method of stopping this recklessness has not been resorted to, only in rare cases, and that has been where some judge with a stiff backbone has forgotten the familiar "Ten dollars and costs" and instead says "Six months at hard labor." We have heard drivers boast of the number of times they have been arrested for violations, and others look upon the modest fines as a joke, but we fail to chronicle where any of them has found anything amusing in serving a good, stiff sentence in a prison at hard labor, and on prison fare. With the almost millions of cars in every state, and the congestion due to the narrow streets and roads originally laid out for slow carriage and wagon traffic, and totally inadequate for motor travel, something radical must be done to compel the reckless driver to respect the laws, and the rights of other people. Beginners should be compelled to pass an examination and confined to side and less traveled streets. But it is the good (?) driver that causes most trouble, as the beginner will fear to take the chances the experienced and hardened reckless driver will. In police court one hears all kinds of excuses, most of which end up with "I did not intend to—," neither did many murderers, but the other fellow is dead just as much as if it was intended. There is no excuse and can be none legally for the man who takes chances while driving an automobile in a city or crowded thoroughfare. He is a criminal as soon as he takes a chance, and as a criminal, and a warning to others, he should be punished severely and promptly. Yes, this applies as well to some women drivers, who are sometimes more rash than a man dare to be, relying upon the courtesies usually shown to women in any sphere.

It Doesn't Matter

The things that often mean so much in life mean little afterwards. Social and financial standing, religion and occupation, mean but little or nothing to us when we are called upon: our duty is to serve, regardless.

This high responsibility we accept with a feeling of serious determination to render the best service we can; we forget the things that were, and remember only the things that make for better service.

Our Weekly Poem

SOLDIER SONS
By Minna Irving

He may have been a grocer's clerk,
Who dealt in tea and lard,
He may have been the gawky youth,
Who raked a village yard;
However humble his estate,
He is exalted now;
The unknown soldier o'er whose dust
Memorial Day we bow.

He may have fought in Union blue,
With Grant or Sheridan;
He may have charged with Roosevelt up
The hill at San Juan;
He may have died on Flanders Field,
Where scarlet poppies spread
Their silken petals like a tent
Above the gallant dead.

His comrades may have called him Pat,
Or Dominick or Bill
Before he heard the bugles sound
Their summons loud and shrill;
War reached a bloody finger out
And smeared away his name;
But freedom folds him in the flag
And loves him just the same.
So on this day of memories
When lavishly we strew
Gold-hearted daisies over him.
And lilacs starred with dew!
We think not of the past he played
In battles lost or won,
But that beneath the garland sleeps
Some mother's soldier son.

Battle Fields of Europe

Sunday evening Dr. Richard D. Hughes, pastor of the Emerald Avenue Presbyterian church, will deliver his illustrated lecture on the "Battle Fields of Europe." The doctor took most of the photos from which the illustrations were made and they are wonderful scenes of where your boy and mine faced the foe in the late war. We know of no one better able to speak on so interesting a subject as Dr. Hughes as he was "Johnny on the spot" in many of the conflicts and knows whereof he speaks. It will be a treat at his church Sunday night and he cordially invites everyone to come and hear him.

Annual Choir Concert

The Englewood Presbyterian church choir will give their annual concert Tuesday evening, May 27, at the church, Yale ave. at W. 64th st. This choir's concert is considered by many to be the musical event of the season and they are always greeted by a large audience. This year the choir of forty voices will be assisted by Miss Lillian Knowles, contralto, Mr. B. Fred Wise, tenor, and Miss Norma Altermatt, violinist, in a fine program of secular numbers. The soloists are well known in Englewood and are the best that can be obtained. The choir will sing a program of numbers by Tschaikowsky, Dvorak, Beethoven, Cadmann, Flotow, Brahe and others. Glenwood Preble is director and George Ralf Kurtz is accompanist. The admission is free and the public are cordially invited to be present.

Englewood Community Center

The Englewood Community Center will hold an open business meeting Sunday afternoon, May 25, in Normal hall, 69th and Halsted sts.

Besides the usual dancing, Miss Frieda Golubock, chairman of the entertainment committee, has planned some novel entertainment consisting of vocal, elocution and classical dancing.

New President for United State Bank

Mr. Robert Anderson has been elected president of the United State Bank of Chicago, succeeding Mr. Carl Lundberg, who died last month.

Mr. Anderson has been a director of the bank since its organization in 1914 and has served as vice president since 1916.

Coming to Chicago thirty-five years ago, Mr. Anderson started in the painting and decorating business and later organized the Anderson-Osterholm company, which has grown to be the largest decorating firm on the south side.

Mr. Anderson's connection with the bank has been in an advisory capacity until recently. During the last year, however, the rapid growth of the bank has made it necessary for him to devote the greater part of his time in the interests of that institution.

Messrs. George Carlson and Victor E. Ytterberg have been elected assistant cashiers of the bank.

Delightful Romance at Stratford Coming Week

Do you love romance? the romance of the old school, the swash buckling hero and the fond maiden who ventures all for the man she loves? then you get it in most gorgeous settings in the wonderful screen success, "Under the Red Robe," that play which made and unmade princes and kings and left its mark on nations. When the powerful Richelieu led his party against all that would oppose his mighty will. The costuming and stage mountings are wonderful and the screening is the best of the Cosmopolitan's work. With Robert Mantell, that monarch of real actors, in the character of Richelieu and supported by John Charles Thomas, Alma Rubens in the adorable Renee, Sydney Herbert in Father Joseph, William H. Powell as the Duke and Ian MacLaren, well known as a leading man at the Marlowe a decade ago as King Louis, it would be difficult to select a grander cast.

"Under the Red Robe" has all the essentials for the sort of a picture that the public wants. Taken from Stanley Weyman's famous masterpiece of the same name, it reflects not only a wonderful medieval romance but all the pomp and ceremony, the plotting and intrigue and the gorgeous splendor of the period of Cardinal Richelieu. The picture was nine months in the making and its production entailed a cost of $1,500,000. Three studios were used and one of the biggest sets ever constructed in the East was built. This set, a replica of the Louvre when it was used as a fortress in the early part of the seventeenth century, represents the palace of King Louis XIII.

In addition to the picture, the Stratford offers extraordinary attractions in the sublime musical overtures and programs of Prof. Sternberg and our good friend Fitch at the mammoth organ, as well as a presentation that wins you to the exact temperament to appreciate this glorious play of the golden age of romance and intrigue. Don't fail to visit the Stratford next week.

The two old friends had not met for many moons, and after the usual salutations came the query: "What are you doing now Bill?" "Oh, I'm working hard and saving every cent I can so that I can get married. What are you doing?" and with a lightning change countenance the other says: "Well, I'm working hard and saving so that I can get a divorce soon as possible."

Where to Get Histories of Englewood

The "Story of Englewood" was published by the Englewood Business Men's association and they have taken over the distribution of the same, no one else having anything whatever to do with it, hence letters to the author or to the Englewood Times can receive no attention.

Persons who have ordered copies of the history may secure them of Mr. C. R. Edrington, manager of the association at the association rooms at 6235 Halsted st. in the Chicago City Bank bldg. Mr. Edrington has all of the orders and is sending them out by Boy Scouts. If you want a copy, order of him, Wentworth 8041.

Fairbanks for Judge

Assistant State's Attorney Freeman Le Roy Fairbank, Republican candidate for judge of the municipal court to fill vacancy.

The April term 1924 grand jury report says:

"The Grand Jury esteems it a pleasure as well as its duty to refer to the work of Assistant State's Attorney Fairbank. The people of Cook County, the State's Attorney, the victims who appear before the Grand Jury, and even the offenders who have committed crimes are fortunate in the broad understanding, the judicial temperament, the honesty of purpose, and unquestionable ability, as well as the pleasing personality of Mr. Fairbank." Election Monday, June 2, 1924.—Adv.

King's Millinery Stores Are Line Concerns

King's Millinery, with two first class stores, one at 326 63rd st., and the other at 439 47th st., are among the most progressive concerns on the south side.

West 63rd st., in Englewood, between Racine and Wentworth, is making rapid progress and the addition of King's Millinery, featuring at the present time, as it so often does, a sale that attracts the attention, is a real asset to the street and the community.

Mr. Kahn, the proprietor of King's Millinery, was with the Boston Store for years, and is a splendid type of the truly progressive business man.

Old Soldiers Need Autos Memorial Day

Walter Sergent of Meade Post G. A. R. again asks the owners of automobiles in Englewood to loan the Post the service of their cars on Decoration day from 9 in the morning until noon. The graves of the old soldiers grow more plentiful, and the surviving comrades are pitifully few, and need automobiles to get to the different cemeteries in their district. If you will allow your car for this service kindly write Mr. Sargent care of G. A. R. hall, 6236 Princeton ave., or let some member of the Post know.

Death of Robert S. Iles

Robert S. Iles, a former resident of Englewood and a prominent attorney, died at his home, 5416 Cornell ave., Sunday, and his funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon, interment being at Mt. Hope cemetery. Mr. Iles was prominent in Republican politics and was at one time president of the Hamilton club, and an adviser of the city law department under the Thompson administration.

Mr. Iles was born in Alexandria, Ky., in 1848. He became a school teacher at the age of 17 immediately after the Civil War, in Adair county, Missouri. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in Kansas and, before coming to Chicago in 1882, rode range on a ranch in the Black Hills in South Dakota. He was county attorney of Cook county from 1890 to 1894 and served as county central committeeman in the Republican party from 1892 to 1896.

He leaves a daughter, Miss Bertha L. Iles, his wife, Mrs. Althea Davis Iles, having died some years ago. His funeral was largely attended by old friends in Englewood.

Marking Roads Properly

With the campaign to remove unsightly advertising signs from America's roads well under way, attention may well be turned to the character of signs and sign posts marking roads to show their destination and distances.

The historic "sign post is of wood, with a board nailed to the side, ending in a rule representation of a pointing hand. The board bears upon its face, usually in weather-obliterated letters, the name of the next town.

Such a marker was all right for a trail, or a wagon road, but is as much out of place on a fine, hard road as an ox cart among automobiles. Modern practice dictates that road signs and posts should be permanent, sightly, plain as to information conveyed, sturdy and artistic.

For national highways, a beautiful bronze sign post has already been designed by a famous sculptor. Road associations interested in some particular road have adopted distinctive markers, in many cases of a high degree of art and beauty, as well as utility. The Old Oregon Trail, for instance, which it is proposed to improve from the Missouri to the Columbia, is now in process of being marked with signs of real beauty and significance. Professor Fairbanks, of the University of Oregon, designed the marker, showing a typical covered wagon and pioneer family of early western days. Such a sign is particularly appropriate for this trail, which is the route followed by early-day pioneers in their ox-team emigration from the Eastern states to Oregon and Washington in the late forties and early fifties.

It is not necessary to wait for some large association to design or place markers. Every town can help by seeing to it that the sign posts along its entering and leaving roads are plain as to intent, yet handsome and distinctive. Placing such markers embodies the spirit of welcome to the tourist, which is "good business" for any town, and is most excellent work for local civic organizations to take up and follow through.

Metzger & Martensen Open for Business

Two experienced real estate men, Metzger and Martensen, have opened a first class office at 903 63rd st., where they are dealing in real estate loans, etc., and are fully equipped to serve the public. Both of these men are well known in Englewood and have a great many friends.

Edward Metzger, one of the partners, was for fifteen years with the Guarantee Trust and Savings bank of Englewood, where he became thoroughly versed in the loan department and in all phases of the realty business. Mr. Martensen is also a thoroughly versed realty man, who has acquainted himself with every department of the business.

We are sure that the Metzger and Martensen firm will be a valuable asset to this community.

Englewood Post, American Legion, Will Observe Memorial Day

Englewood Post No. 61, the American Legion, will observe Memorial day this year with services at the cemeteries and will participate in the parade downtown, according to the program laid out by Dr. S. Wall, commander of the post.

Members will assemble at the legion hall in the Englewood Business College building at 735-41 Englewood ave., in uniform, at 8 a. m. and will proceed from there to Mt. Olivet and Mt. Greenwood cemeteries, where services will be held over the graves of late Comrades C. Frank Berg and Mr. Hickey. The firing squad will fire the salutes and the regular legion memorial services will be used. All the members of the post are expected to be out in full uniform for the occasion.

The organization will again assemble at the hall at 1 p. m. in uniform and will then proceed downtown where they will participate in the gigantic parade to be held there by all the military organizations in the city.

An invitation is extended to all ex-service men, whether members of the American Legion or not, to attend both ceremonies and to come in uniform if possible.

District Chairman Taylor has issued a call for the next fourth district meeting. It will be held at the legion club rooms at 177 E. 154th st., Harvey, Ill., on Thursday evening, May 29. Members of Englewood Post will leave from the legion hall at 8 p. m. on that evening and will proceed over the Dixie highway to 154th st.

Importance of Englewood Union Station

Few of our own people realize the great amount of travel going through our Englewood Union station. The following is from the Rock Island Magazine for May:

Englewood Union station, Chicago, located on 63rd st. between Wentworth ave. and State st., affords direct transfer across station platforms for passengers, baggage and U. S. mail to all trains of the Rock Island, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate railroads, with 117 daily train departures, 117 daily train arrivals, 83 Sunday departures and 76 Sunday arrivals. There is a total of 234 trains in and out of the Englewood station each day of the week, and a yearly total of 81,502 trains.

During the year a total of 644,550 locomotives and cars stop at the station, each averaging 65 feet in length. The total length of these cars and engines is 7,934.8 miles, or enough to reach twice across the country.

There are 320 sleeping and parlor car departures and arrivals at the Englewood station each day. The estimated number of passengers handled at this station each day is 10,000, or a yearly total of 3,650,000. During the year 1923, 192,000 pieces of baggage, 3,285,000 lbs. of U. S. mail, 39,420 railroad mail bags and 1,477,500 pieces of railroad mail were handled. There are more 20-hour trains to New York City out of the Englewood station than from any other Chicago station, and also more limited trains to the East and Southeast than from any other Chicago station.

In addition to this station Englewood has the station at 63rd and Wallace st., which has equal or greater number of roads and trains entering it, then there is the B. & O. station at Leavitt st., at which three railroads have accommodations, thus making Englewood one of the largest railroad stations in the land, with train service in all directions on the leading roads of the country.

A World War Corpse

George Gillespie, the prize A. E. F. corpse, has arisen from his grave and gone to work. Artillery officers and surgeons, who elected him to the dead men's club at Romagne in the Argonne five years ago, will be surprised to learn that he has just checked in as a physically fit electrical engineer at the Hawthorne Works of the Western Electric company.

Gillespie was a signal corps corporal with Battery A, 124th Field Artillery, from Illinois. At Romagne a fragment of shell three inches square penetrated Gillespie's right side, shearing off the bottom of both lungs, displacing his heart, splintering ten ribs and removing the index finger of his left hand.

A whiff of mustard gas brought him back to consciousness and at the point of a pistol he forced two German prisoners to carry him back to a dressing station. That night Fokkers bombed the dressing station and two nurses carried him out into the rainy night, where he remained until daybreak. At Tours, surgeons spent a whole week picking bits of leather and underwear out of the tunnel that pierced him from right to left.

While basketed with drain tubes and suffering from empyema, he was carried aboard a ship for America. His ship, the S. S. "Syria," caught fire off the Azores and he had to be landed. Some weeks later he arrived at Fort Sheridan, where he underwent four major operations and took exercises for growing a muscular wall to replace his missing ribs. For two years his death was on the daily schedule at that hospital. In the meantime he showed his faith in life by taking an electrical engineering course at Lewis Institute. Today, save for a few scars and an X-ray photo showing the missing ribs, he shows no disability, and the Western Electric Company's medical examiners have given him a rating of 100 per cent.

Local Building Loan Association

There can be no greater incentive in providing homes for a local community than making it easy to secure necessary loans to build on a co-operative plan and a building loan association is a positive asset to any community.

The Southtown Building and Loan association with headquarters in the office of Clarence O. Rosen, 5933 Halsted st., was organized at the charter meeting held last Friday evening, at the College Cafe. Representative David I. Swanson was elected temporary chairman and introduced William K. Pflaum, a prominent building and loan association authority, living in Cicero. Mr. Pflaum spoke on the human interest side of building and loan associations.

Ferdinand G. Christgau, who was later elected president of the association, was the main speaker of the evening and gave a talk on the proper functions of modern building and loan associations. With facts and figures he set forth the advantages enjoyed by members.

A complete set of by-laws were read and adopted and the following directors were elected: Clarence O. Rosen, David I. Swanson, E. Axel Erickson, J. F. Jensen, C. Richard Jernberg, F. G. Christgau, Harry Mapp, Dr. A. J. Hanson, Victor E. Ytterberg, Paul D. Lorenz, A. E. Nordlander and Dr. S. Wall.

The directors elected the following officers: President, Mr. Christgau; vice president, C. Richard Jernberg; secretary, Clarence O. Rosen; asst. secretary, A. E. Nordlander; treasurer, Victor E. Ytterberg; and attorney, David I. Swanson.

Vote to Restore Old Fine Arts Building

The election June 2 will not only elect a judge of the supreme court, but the bond issue for the South Park Board to complete the work of boulevarding South Park ave. and the five million to restore the old Art building in Jackson Park and convert it into a useful assembly hall to seat 30,000 people, will be voted upon. While it may seem that the sums asked are large, they are not too large in consideration of the benefits the people will derive from their proper use. The south side needs the large assembly hall for national conventions and other large public gatherings, and if the old Art building is not reclaimed at once it will mean a million dollars gone to ruin that might be saved. We urge Englewood people to vote for both measures. The South Park boulevard is nearly completed and the work should not be stopped now.

Woman's City Club

A reception to new members and ward branch members will be held Monday, May 26, at 3 p. m. to the new officers and new board members of the largest woman's club in Chicago at the Woman's City club lounge, 17th floor Stevens bldg., 16 N. Wabash ave. Mrs. E. F. Taylor, secretary; Mrs. J. A. Jacobs, chairman 17th ward branch; Mrs. P. F. Collings, chairman of publicity.

Radio Adopted by Churches

The number of phases of modern life affected by radio broadcasting increases daily. A cross section of life taken almost anywhere will show the influence of radio; in sports, in music, education, agriculture, journalism, politics, religion, and recently, even in a funeral service.

For the first time in history, the whole nation could listen to the last rites of a former chief executive, when services at the entombment of ex-President Woodrow Wilson were broadcasted from the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul in Washington. The results on that occasion demonstrated that radio is as well adapted to such solemn occasions as to cultural and entertainment purposes.

In fact, it is predicted that radio will exert a profound and increasing influence on the religious life of the nations and of the world. The number of churches which have their services broadcasted in various sections of the country is increasing as clergy and public realize the possibilities in this method of communicating religious teachings, inspiration, and comfort.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America is now considering the extension of radio on a wide scale in its work, both for the benefit of communicants and for the hitherto unchurched.

The Vatican, too, according to advices from Rome, contemplates utilizing radio on a large scale. Individual churches of various denominations have already shown the practicability and popularity of broadcast services of worship.

Conspicious among these, for example, is the famous St. Thomas church, which is becoming as well known throughout the country as it is in New York City.

Radio readily lends itself to reverent broadcasting, not only of sermons, Bible teachings and prayer, but of the great oratories, and other church music. While broadcast services are welcomed by millions of people in active life, they are a special boon to the sick, the aged, and the shut-ins in homes and institutions, to whom the solace of church service has hitherto been denied.

The privileges of listening to broadcast services need not be denied to any home in the land, for as good results can be obtained on homemade sets as others and their lower costs puts them in reach of the humblest citizen. Unquestionably radio will find one of its most fruitful fields of development in the immediate future in the realms of religious worship, and instruction for the masses.

Send Your Hubby to E. A. R. This Week

Have that husband of yours see the best play of the season for husbands to see, at the E. A. R. tonight or tomorrow, Friday or Saturday evening, with Saturday matinee. The title is "Why Men Leave Home" and is cast with Lewis Stone, Helene Chadwick and Mary Carr in leading parts. It is a lesson to husbands who are slipping after a romantic courtship and joyous honeymoon and who sometimes in less than a year lose the romance of marriage. We have yet to see a cleverer bit of acting than that of the grandma, Mary Carr, or of Helene Chadwick as the wife Lewis Stone is most brilliant as a bridegroom but his gradual failing is completed by the wily "stenog" who laments "what he must think of her after what occurred last night." A threatened divorce and a hasty marriage complicates things until wily grandma puts up a little game by the aid of the old family "Doc" and gets the whole house quarantined. It is a good show and one most people may profit by; of course this does not include you and I, dear reader, only the other fellows. Heine?

On Friday night there is an added comedy, "Pat's Patent," which is uproariously funny, and Friday is also dividend night. Saturday, matinee, also has the latest episode in "Leather Stocking" and Fun from the Press and Aesop's Fables. Good show all through, don't miss 'em.

The Cosmopolitan Corporation presents
"Under the Red Robe"
with Robert B. Mantell-John Charles Thomas-Alma Rubens and All Star Cast

We are proud to offer a true miracle of the screen art—a photoplay that turns bac kthe hands of time 300 years, to brave old France in days vivid with romance, intrigue and unsurpassed beauty.

It is a story of him who was known by his sword as Gil de Berault, "the Black Death," and of Renee, the fairest flower of the South, leader of ten thousand loyal rebels, of whom it was said: "The man who seeks to possess her must first outwit her."

Sternberg's orchestra and Fitch at the mighty Stratford organ will add voice to this wonderful production.

Coming Sunday, June 1

To Acquire Historic Ground

The state of Illinois will take immediate steps for the purchase of the great Cahokia Mound and its most important neighboring mounds, located in Madison county six miles east of St. Louis.

Representative Thomas L. Fetcke, jr., and A. L. Spivey of East St. Louis conferred with Governor Small and Col. C. R. Miller, director of the department of public works and buildings, Wednesday, May 14, at the governor's office in Springfield and discussed in detail the proposed purchase of a tract of land on which is located the pre-historic Cahokia Mounds. The great Cahokia Mound lies on the line between Madison and St. Clair counties. The fifty-third general assembly voted an appropriation for its purchase.

The governor having personally visited these mounds and being familiar with the exhaustive investigations made under the supervision of Prof. Warren R. Moorhead, who is a member of the United States Board of Indian Commissions and connected with Phillip's Academy, Andover, Mass., heartily approved of the state taking steps to acquire and preserve the historical spot. He instructed Director Miller to take prompt action toward the purchase of the more important of the mounds of the Cahokia group, on an equitable basis.

This action by the state will preserve for the world the most important work left by a pre-historic race on the American continent. The Great Cahokia Mound or "Monk's Mound" is easily the largest prehistorical artificial earth work in the United States and is to the "Mound Builders" whose history antedates that of the Indians, what the great pyramids were to the Pharoahs of Egypt. The dimensions of Monk's Mound are as follows: The base north and south, 998 feet; east and west, 721 feet; height 99 feet.

The age of these mounds is a matter of conjecture only. They were covered with heavy forest trees when the first white men came 250 years ago. Articles found in the mounds by Dr. Moorhead show that they were built by a race of people who had reached a rather advanced stage of civilization whose numbers must have been counted by the thousand. It is estimated that it would have taken 1,000 men five years to build Monk's Mound alone. Only the mounds remain to mark the activity of a vanished race. Only such action as the State of Illinois is taking could prevent the destruction of this heritage from the past.

Vacation Privileges at Kelly Branch Library

The season is drawing close when we turn our thoughts to a vacation. What is a vacation? The dictionary defines it as a space of time in which there is an intermission of a stated employment, or in other words leisure time. The poet was right when he said, "Absence of occupation is not rest, a mind quite vacant is a mind distressed."

The ideal vacation is not absence of occupation, but a change of occupation. What change could be more pleasant than to lose yourself in reading? Refresh your mind with the thoughts of the philosopher, or the knowledge of the scientist or naturalist, the fun of the humorist. We can not plan your vacation for you, but we can make it interesting.

You may remain at home in Chicago, and still enjoy the beauties and wonders of travel by reading some of the attractive books of travel in this branch. Let us suggest a trip to California free of charge, without the heat of the desert, or bothering to get suitable apparel, or take a sea voyage with some of the world's greatest navigators. The beauties of the woods and the mountains are to be found in some of our nature books, and the charm and secrets of mother nature is beautifully described for us by these naturalists.

Vacation cards are special cards, which entitles you to draw out ten books or more, and retain them until October 1 if you care to. Of course this does not include seven day books. Borrowers may arrange to have the books they have selected sent out of town by parcel post to then summer address. The library will take care of them for you, and you will need to leave the amount of postage plus a fee of three cents a volume for wrapping and shipping, and we will be glad to forward them to you.

This privilege of using a vacation card is a benefit to those who are remaining in the city, but who live too long distances from the library and find it not so convenient to come to the library in the hot summer days.

Children may have vacation cards upon presenting a note from one of their parents saying they may have permission to use the card and will assume all responsibility for the large number of books allowed.

Now if you are planning a camping trip we can furnish you with automobile guide books, and outdoor camping books, which you will find very useful. If you plan to stay at a hotel, you will wish to have some thrilling novels to read in that comfy chair on a shady veranda. Make use of this vacation card and tuck away a few books in your grip. You will be sorry if you don't. Think it over and apply early to make a good selection of books, and do not hesitate to have them forwarded to your out of town address.

We are listing some books below, which is a rather varied list and we hope you will find them interesting for vacation reading. You will find many other sets of books at the branch, but we can not take the space to list them all here.

TRAVEL BOOKS

Mills, Spell of the Rockies; Fox, Heart of the Hills; Hervey, Caravans by Night; Maugham, Trembling of a Leaf; Jeffers, Call of the Mountains; Twain, Roughing It; Twin, Innocents Abroad; White, The Forest; Ossendowski, Beast Men and Gods; O'Brien, White Shadows in the South Seas; Douglas, Alone; Outran, Heart of Canadian Rockies; Clark, Spell of Spain; Nordhoff, Faery Lands of the South.

NOVELS

Cather, My Antonia, Canfield, Bent Twig; Conrad, Lord Jim; Dealand, Rising Tide; Armim, Enchanted April; Bailey, Glory of Youth; Atherton, Sister in Law; Bardett, Wall Street Girl; Bennett, Lilian; Blasco, Woman Triumphant; Bottome, Servant of Reality; Benet, Young People's Pride, Ferber, Fanny Herself; Hutchinson, If Winter Comes; King, Empty Sack; Swinnerton, Nocturne; Webster, Joseph Greer and His Family; Galsworthy, To Let; Dell, Moon Calf; Wharton, Age of Innocence; Cibbs, Middle of the Road; Poole, Millions; Herrick Common Lot.

THE STRAIN OF GOLF

Here is a tale that some one told,
I think I'd like to tell in verse;
For other people, young and old,
Find golf a blessing and a curse,
Enjoy God's out-of-doors the same
And play about as bad a game.

They tell me that a Scotch divine
Stood looking sadly at the ball.
His driving much resembled mine,
His putting was the worst of all.
Yes, there he stood, his words too weak
The thoughts within his breast to speak.

And, as he sadly shook his head,
He bit his lip, he heaved a sigh.
"I'll hae t' gie it up," he said,
To one that moment passing by.
"Not give up golfing, dominie?"
"Nay, not the golf—the meenistry."

Take away women, and men will follow.

Now that the bonus has carried even over the president's veto, how many will refuse it?

I suggest a "rag day" to purchase swagger sticks for the neglected sweeties of Halsted st.

There seems less necessity for the re-writing of the Bible than for the re-reading of the good book.

Brigadier General Chas. W. Dawes is distinguished for other reasons than that he smokes a strong black pipe.

You don't hear any of the tire salesmen hollering about the ruts in the boulevards, they make good business for the tire men.

It may be stylish to wear a straw hat with an overcoat, but I doubt the propriety of wearing the straw tile during a snow storm.

It is rather inconsistent to think of a nation mourning its soldier dead by playing baseball matches, horse racing and prize fighting on Memorial day.

Those cute little swagger sticks now affected by Englewood girls were discarded by alleged movie girls over a year ago. Better drop 'em, girls.

When we sent an army over to save their land, the French kissed them, but when our foot ball players defeated them in fair sport, they hissed them, and incidentally the flag that saved their country.

We certainly appreciate the increase of our subscription lists, especially in the face of the many free distribution sheets. Almost any kind of printing can be given away, but it is a compliment to have so many people pay good money for our newspaper.

The women of New York were asked to name the three most fascinating men in the world, chose the Prince of Wales, and John Barrymore, and split up on the third choice. Huh! them wimen never saw Ed. Dougherty or they would have named him, one, two three.

Casey had just bought one of the new "Big Ben" alarm clocks and yesterday morning at six o'clock it "went off" with a terrible din and racket, but Casey looked up at it with a victorious grin and murmured: "There, dem yez. Oi fooled yes, shure Oi won't aslape at awl at awl."

We Are to Have Junior High Schools

The Board of Education has overruled the protests of the Teachers' association, and beginning with the next September session will install ten or more junior high schools. These will include the seventh and eighth grades of the elementary or grammar schools, and the lower or first year high school grade. Making six grades in the elementary schools, three in the junior high schools, and three in the high schools, making twelve grades as formerly, but it is claimed will greatly facilitate the work in the upper grades as well as the lower, and provide for those who do not continue their schooling to graduating from the high school. A junior high school will be provided in each district, and at present some of the former grammar schools will be used for the purpose.

Poppy Week in Englewood

Greater Chicago Post, No. 866, Southtown Memorial Auxiliary, will hold their annual Buddy Poppy week campaign from May 24 to May 27 inclusive.

Object is to procure funds for ex-service men and families. This is a national drive throughout America and President Coolidge has given his approval.

Each poppy will be sold for 10c and they are made in our own Veterans of Foreign Wars factory, U. S. make. Our own disabled American veterans whom are legless, armless, gassed and crippled made the poppies and will receive all poppy profits.

We seek volunteer workers to assist us in this worthy drive to help our disabled comrades. Can we count on you to sell these beautiful poppies? If so, it will surely be appreciated.

New York will dispose of 3,000,000—here in Chicago we expect to duplicate this figure. The south side headquarters for our drive will be at Carpenter's hall, 6414 S. Halsted st., second floor, Normal 8207.

Ladies of Englewood, bring some women friends with you and report Friday or Saturday, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. You can choose your location. The committee is as follows: Mrs. Nellie Carlson, president; Mrs. Edith Behr, past president; Mrs. Maud Sterling, chairman; Wm. Wingerning, commander.

Old Timers Turn Out to Commercial Association

At the noon day luncheon of the Englewood Commercial and Civic association Tuesday, Vice President Mindes presided in the absence of President Penhallegon, who is nursing a nice case of "flu." After a massacre of "hot dogs" and other dainties including some excellent ice cream from Webster and Crist's, the organization got down to business. The secretary was ordered to write Alderman Lyle as to the condition of the drinking and watering fountain at 63rd st. and Eggleston ave. Mr. Koehler reported that the railroads had done nothing to improve the lighting of the subways as yet, and further action was ordered. Notwithstanding the fact that we are refused sufficient police protection to look after the crossing at 63rd st. and Wentworth ave. the association was asked to contribute to a fund to purchase uniforms for the Police baseball team. The matter was referred to the charity committee. Action was advised to prevent the flooding of our streets with beggars and undeserving charity solicitors, and the members were asked to refuse individual contributions. A special advertising campaign was ordered and Mr. Madigan will act as chairman, assisted by George B. Dow, Harry G. Johnson, Frank Barkey and Mr. Kahn. Many old timers were present at the meeting.

Boy Scouts in Englewood

Community Rallies—Beverly Hills community will hold their community rally Saturday, May 23, at St. Paul's Union church, 94th and Winchester, at 7:30 p. m. Troops 607, 611, 608, 625 and 633 will participate.

Hamilton Park and Englewood communities will hold their rallies for the Reich cup on June 6, Friday, 7:30 p. m., at the west gym of Parker high, Normal blvd. and Normal pkwy. The entire district has been invited to this particular contest, for those who have been in Scouting the last three or four years will recall that Troop 646, Mr. Maysack, Scoutmaster, has held the cup for two consecutive years, and if they win it this year they will keep it permanently. The other troops in Hamilton Park are determined, if possible, to eliminate 646 in the community rally, and of course, 646 is determined not to be eliminated, so you can readily see that this will be a very interesting contest. Every troop in the district is urged to attend that night in a body to watch this interesting rally, which will be second only to the District rally on June 21.

Another camp bulletin will be ready by the first of next week, and I will thank you to send your troop runner for your supply. This bulletin is being prepared to answer all questions pertaining to Camp Owasippe, which are not covered by the other literature, and should assist the Scoutmaster by eliminating a lot of unnecessary questions.

The following troops have not sent their runners for the other camp literature: Troops 609, 630, 633, 634, 641, 676.

Troop 620 won the D. S. Wentworth Good Turn banner for April through the good turn of Tenderfoot Scout Frank Wasek in restoring a lost boy to his home, as announced in a previous bulletin. Troops 631 and 633 have each been awarded the banner twice, and if they win it a third time they are entitled to the streamers which they will carry on their troop flags.

Wanted! volunteers at the district office to assist in distributing books for the Englewood Business Men's association called the "Story of Englewood." If you have a bicycle bring it along as it will assist greatly in distributing the books. Report at the district office Thursday, May 22, after school.

Judge DeYoung Talks to Kiwanis

It was a banquet not a luncheon, that the ladies served to the Kiwanis club Tuesday, and the Irish turkey of "carned bafe an' cabbige" was given a hearty reception by the hungry Kiwanians. The Jiggs and Maggie menu was a winner and piped the angelic voices in convivial song. Dr. Wall led one division in the "Long Long Trail" while Ray Ballantine retaliated with "Keep the Home Fire Burning" and there was nearly a conflagration when the supposed harmonics met. President Tegtmeier announced that Will McDonnell and Wendell Williams were chosen directors. Funny stories were asked for and Kiwanian Bassford responded with one that sent the undertakers after him, and Ray Ballantine tried a Scotch one that just missed the heather. By this time the announced speaker of the day, Judge Frederick H. De Young, had arrived and treated the club with an all too brief address on the facts of practical government and the divisions thereof.

The president announced the golf tournament at Kankakee and many volunteered to go and run the risk of being allowed to return without being confined in the big red asylum on the hill.

The following communication received by President Tegtmeier from Governor Wentworth shows only a part of the honors the Englewood Kiwanians have earned in the late 100 per cent contest in attendance.

May 12, 1924.

"William G. Tegtmeier, president,
"Kiwanis Club of Englewood,
"Chicago, Illinois.

"My Dear President Tegtmeier:

"The sincere thanks and appreciation of the entire district goes to the Englewood club for the splendid record made. This is the first year that any club in this district has ever made 100 per cent for ten consecutive meetings.

"By reason of your record, you will be presented with an International prize at Denver, and the name of your club will be heralded all over the International organization, and will ever blaze forth in a prominent place in the international records of the attendance contest.

"We are confident that your membership, after making the record that they have made, will be better Kiwanians and that your club will finish the year stronger than it has ever been. Attendance is the basis of the strength of a Kiwanis club.

"The Englewood club also has the individual distinction of being the first big city club in International to make a 100 per cent attendance record. Your club will ever stand forth as the shining example to all big city clubs and you will never regret the efforts put forth to win the honors that are yours.

"Very truly yours,
"DANIEL S. WENTWORTH
"District Governor
"F. P. HAMMOND, M. D.
"District Secretary."

Flag Presentation to Meade Post, G. A. R.

On Saturday, May 17, George G. Meade W. R. C., No. 136, presented to George G. Meade Post, No. 444, G. A. R., a beautiful silk Altar flag. The president of the corps called the meeting to order and then asked Past President Ida Johnson to present the flag which she did in a few well chosen words to Commander Cussum, who responded as only an old soldier can and then asked all to give the salute, after which Miss Nettie McKay gave that very beautiful tribute to the flag which was responded to by the patriotic instructor of the post, Comrade Charles Smith. The Rev. Hildebrand rendered two beautiful songs and also the president of Tent No. 5, Daughters of Veterans. Mrs. Frances Hitchcock, favored us with two vocal selections, after which light refreshments were served and we all felt we had a very fine afternoon.

Dr. Joseph Reese Passes Away

Dr. Joseph Reese, one of the best known medical practitioners on the south side, died at his home, 841 Garfield blvd., Monday evening. He was injured, May 4, when his automobile was struck by a car driven by a woman at Sangamon st. and Garfield blvd. The doctor was struck by the steering wheel and paralysis resulted, from which he did not recover. Dr. Reese came to the Town of Lake and north Englewood thirty-eight years ago and has resided here ever since and engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery, being for many years head of the staff of the Englewood hospital. He was also surgeon of the Pennsylvania and other railroads and stood very high not orly as a professional man but as a philanthropist and many of his patients were among the poor of the Stock Yards district. He was born in New Philadelphia, Ohio, 68 years ago, and leaves beside his beloved wife, Mrs. Clara H. Reese, three daughters, Mrs. Laura R. Barnes of Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Josephine E. Stephenson of New York and Mrs. Isabella Beach of Riverside, Ill. His funeral occurred Thursday afternoon from Green Street Congregational church and interment was at Mt. Hope cemetery. He was a member of Boulevard Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

Fake Salvation Army Solicitors

Frequent complaints that solicitors in the residence districts have been begging funds in the name of the Salvation Army have brought a warning from Commissioner William Peart, chief of the Salvation Army in this territory, that the organization does not authorize house-to-house canvassing for funds except on two occasions annually. These are the home service campaign in October and the "Self-Denial week," observed during the Easter season.

"We have no solicitors going about with tambourines," declared the commissioner.

The growing ranks of organizations aping the Salvation Army in uniform and name has brought about many of these complaints, it was pointed out. These bands usually introduce the word "army" into their name and frequently use the letter "S" in some form.

"When giving to persons representing themselves as from the Salvation Army, be sure you are not misled," advised Commissioner Peart.

Daughters of Veterans Party

Martha Ammen Tent, No. 20, National Alliance, D. of V., will hold its next meeting May 28 at 2 p. m. Meeting to be followed by cards and bunco and a luncheon served by the Triangle Sale company. Members are urged to attend and bring their friends.

Daughters of Jacob Open New Home in June

Arrangements are being made for the opening of our new home at 6401 S. Peoria, which will take place the early part of June. We take this means of thanking all those who helped make our first bazaar a financial success.

Sincerely,
DAUGHTERS OF JACOB.

DON'T WEAR GLASSES
before you have had it proved to your satisfaction that your troubles will be removed by their use. At the present day too many glasses are sold simply for what is made out of them, without any regard to the eyes. What you need is a thoroughly sound, honest, straightforward opinion, supported by the necessary skill, experience, qualification and reputation. I offer the above free of charge. In every case where I find glasses are necessary, I explain plainly and fully why your eyes need them, and give you every proof of the benefits you will get from their use. My twenty-five years' experience is behind my methods.
